

Another response to keeping dogs inside

Dear Editor,

My wife and I thought that the article by Shannon Allen was so to the point and very well written.

Jane and I spend a lot of time in our Bible Education work and have observed many unhappy dogs chained to trees and kennels as we go door to door.

The cost of an electronic fence may be cost prohibited for some families, but taking the dog for a walk each day would not, and both the dog and the owner would get the needed exercise, interchange and a bond of love.

I do hope families prior to buying that beautiful cuddly puppy will paste this article to the refrigerator door and think about their long term obligation to the puppy and especially the families that work all through the week.
